Free Bridge Scheme.

Free Bridge Scheme.

The citizens of Manchester are very much interested in the proposed new free bridge scheme. There is not a person in the city who is opposed to the bond issue as proposed by Council, for the purpose of raising a sufficient sum to cover Manchester's end of the bargain.

Alderman Rudd is one of the most energetic workers on behalf of the proposition, and it may be said that he is the father of the movement. He said last night that he felt confident the plans before the Ptelmanad Council would go through, and that it would be a small matter to get the two bodies together on the scheme.

IN THE FIGHT TO A FINISH

Mr. Starritt Will Not Yet Give, Up Mayoralty of Barton Heights.

ELECTION WAS ILLEGAL

So Declares Mr. Gardner, Counsel for Mayor Starritt.

The foundation for a very pretty legal fight is in the question of who will be the next Mayor of Barton Helights. According to one side, there are no legally qualified voters in the town, and, there fore, the election held on the 14th of June was of no effect. The other fac-tion is equally certain that the election was valid.

The first side base their argument on

The first side base their argument on the understanding clause of the Constitution, which says that all persons eititled to vote must, unless physically disabled, make application in their own handwriting, to the registrar for enrollment on his books. They claim, too, that there was no lawful registration of the voters of Barton Heights for 1902 and 1903, because there was no registrar appointed for the town for those years. The registrars of Brookland district did onroll the voters of Barton Heights for 1902 and 1903; but the Legislature provided—what the Constitution did not—that there should be registrars for towns just as for the cities and countles, and such registrar was not appoint-did not—that there should be registrars for towns just as for the clies and counties, and such registrar was not appointed. In the early part of this present year the attention of the supervisors was called to the fact that it was their duty to appoint such registrar, and they appointed Mr. S. M. O'Bannon. He did not call for any application, it is claimed, but transferred the names of the town's voters from the district book to his own registration book, thereby violating, it is claimed, the understanding clause.

At the election on June 14th, the Mayor, Mr. J. W. Starritt, and three councilmen, Messrs. F. O. Robinson, F. B. Carpenter and Howard Hooler, were defeated by large majorifies. Their attention, was called to the alleged illegal registration accidentally, and they consulted Mr. Thomas W. Gardner on the ligal aspects of the case. He gave his opinion that there had been no election, and that they are entitled to hold over under the law until their successors shall have been elected and shall quality.

Mr. Starritt said yesterday: Starritt said yesterday:

"As I understand the matter, there has been no election; and, though I don't care for the office because I'm tired of it, I won't give it up till my successor has been legally chosen. I intend to stand by Mr. Gardner's opinion in the

was head of his household, and this morning, in the Police Court, Justice John is liable to reward him accordingly.

John said he was trying to train up a little Washington in the way he should go, when his wife and his mother-in-law interfored. They thought his method was too strenuous. A moment later they, felt vife as being one big bruise; the mother

as much the worse physically for ner-interference, and John, himself, a little under the weather. No chairs or dishes were broken.

An innocent bystander, whose name has not yet been located, swatted John over the head with a brick in behalf of the little Washington, the wife and her mother. Four stitches were necessary to stop the flow of blood. The innocent bystander disappeared after he had done his good work, and John was jugged.
